5002.I Remote-Designated Functions

A. Approval

Unit requests for Remote-Designated Functions must be submitted by the unit's Vice President or Dean ("executive leader") or their designee in accordance with the Remote Work Approval Process . When assessing requests to approve a Remote-Designated Function, the Vice President, Human Resources or their designee assesses whether the function/work at issue can be appropriately and effectively performed at an off-campus location and whether the function/work satisfies one (1) or more of the following additional criteria:

- competition for talent performing in the function necessitates geographic flexibility with regard to work location;
- Remote Work is deemed to be an operating standard in the field/function; and/or
- significant operational savings will be generated by remote operation.

B. Right to Modify or Discontinue

The University and/or unit retain the right to modify or discontinue the remote design of any function with reasonable notice to the Covered Staff Members. The University reserves the right to require Covered Staff Members working in an approved Remote-Designated Function to report to campus with minimal notice in the event of an emergency.

5002.2 Individualized Remote Work Arrangements

A. Approval

An Individualized Remote Work Arrangement may be approved in limited circumstances. Requests for approval of an Individualized Remote Work Arrangement must be sponsored by the unit's executive leader or their designee. Requests for approval of an Individualized Remote Work Arrangement may not be submitted by an individual Covered Staff Member. Requests for approval of such arrangements must be presented by to the Vice President, Human Resources or their designee pursuant to the Remote Work Approval Process . In considering such requests, the Vice President, Human Resources or their designee assesses whether the work performed by the Covered Staff Member can be appropriately and effectively performed at an off-campus location and reviews and considers the following additional criteria:

- the Covered Staff Member's scope of work relates primarily to off-campus stakeholders who would be better or neutrally served by the Covered Staff Member's off-campus work location;
- the arrangement facilitates valuable knowledge transfer or succession planning on matters of significance; and/or
- the Covered Staff Member is engaged in mission critical work or possesses unique knowledge, skills, and abilities that are not easily replicated or replaced within a reasonable period of time.

In the discretion of the Vice President, Human Resources or their designee, Individualized Remote Work Arrangements may be approved for a limited, defined period of time.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, this limitation must not interfere with a Covered Staff Member's right to request a Remote Work arrangement as a reasonable accommodation under the Americans with Disabilities Act (see Yale University Faculty and Staff Accommodation Request Form ).

B. Right to Modify or Discontinue

The University and/or unit retain the right to modify or discontinue the terms of any Individualized Remote Work Arrangement with reasonable notice to the Covered Staff Member.
